

“Leave the ladders to us...”

As the fall season approaches, the folks at Mind in the Gutter are gearing up for a busy season. Even though it's pretty easy to ignore your gutters in the middle of a drought, it won't be long until home owners realize their gutters are filled with leaves and debris. “Without the rain, it's hard to tell if the downspouts are clogged, but that doesn't stop the leaves from falling,” said Pete Hatcher, co-owner of Mind in the Gutter.

Over the last few weeks the decks, sidewalks and driveways are in need of sweeping or blowing more and more frequently. Just think about the number of leaves that have slid down your roof and into the gutters just waiting for the next rain to clog everything up.

In preparation for this fall, Mind in the Gutter has added more equipment, personnel, products and services. In addition to their lineup of seamless installation, gutter cleaning and power washing, Mind in the Gutter is now Richmond's Exclusive Gutter Cap Dealer. “After cleaning gutters on several thousand homes and removing many gutter guard systems that weren't performing properly, we went searching for a true maintenance free system. And this one comes with a Lifetime Warranty,” added Pete.

There are many gutter guards on the market that claim to be maintenance free. Some come with a warranty, some don't, and nearly all of them have certain restrictions and conditions which costs the home owner more money in the long run.

According to the National Safety Council over 500,000 people get hurt from falling off a ladder. This type of incident made national headlines last month when former Green Bay Packer Max McGee died while blowing leaves off his roof and gutters. So please, leave that to Mind in the Gutter. They clean them, install them, and cap them. For your FREE consultation visit them online at www.mindinthegutter.com.
